

CREATIVE PLANET

School of the Arts

Did you know . . . ?

- Nearly 85% of our students receive scholarships
- Our students consistently score in the top 20% in the nation on standardized academic tests
- We are committed to keeping our unique educational experience accessible by maintaining low tuition costs while providing working salaries for our teachers and scholarships for our students
- Our strength comes from over 300 arts professionals, board members, teachers, parents, donors and other volunteers who believe in our mission and donate more than half of our annual budget and thousands of hours of service each year.
- Our students perform several times each year, regularly appearing in everything from television commercials and public service announcements to community performances and charity benefits.
- Most of our budget is returned to the community in the form of goods and services and scholarships for needy and talented students and their families.
- Your contribution to Creative Planet School of the Arts is a sound investment in the future of our students and the cultural life of this region.

Bill Rugh, Artistic Director and Founder is an acclaimed dancer, choreographer, director, actor and teacher with over 15 years of experience. Rugh was trained at Cal State Los Angeles, the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, and the Edge Performing Arts Center. He has taught at the Los Angeles Unified Gifted and Talented Conservatory (LACHSA), Sammy Davis Jr. Performing Arts Center, LA's Heart Project, Millennium in Motion Dance Studio, and the East LA Conservatory of the Arts among others.

Founded by Rugh in 2000, Creative Planet School of the Arts (CPSOA) is a non-profit private arts magnet dedicated to accelerated academic training, intense arts education, creative expression, and community outreach. CPSOA proudly admits students of any race, color, and national or ethnic origin.
